Invitation to bring France Alumni Days to life in the classroom -

We propose to you here a selection of 10 French films from which you may choose to show to your students in class.

Following the movie, the class is encouraged to create a “photo charade” to represent the film watched together, and to present this photo to Campus France USA’s Instagram, for followers to guess the film.

This is a fun and engaging way to get potential future French alumni involved in the France Alumni Days celebration and to support French departments.

We propose 3 ways to celebrate. Choose one, two, all three, or invent your own!

Teachers inspire students to learn languages and study abroad

So many young people are inspired to study abroad in France or in other Francophone countries by their French teachers.

We hope to give French teachers the space and structure to talk about study abroad opportunities or share their own experiences studying in France or in a Francophone country, with their students in the context of France Alumni Day. The goal is to celebrate these experiences in a fun and inspiring way, and carve out a time for students to dream about their academic future!

We also know that many students continue to learn French and refine their language skills because they aspire to study abroad or work abroad in a Francophone country in the future!

By inviting French teachers to explore study abroad topics with their students, we also contribute to a virtuous cycle of inspiration and motivation for language learners.
